

Health Matters in Mapleton-Fall Creek!

The Mapleton-Fall Creek CDC, in collaboration with the IUPUI Department of Anthropology, has received a generous grant from the Community Health Engagement Program (CHEP) to help fund some research in the community this spring on the following health-related issues:

Food. What foods do you have access to in Mapleton-Fall Creek? What other foods would you like to see available? How far do you need to travel to find fresh produce, meat and other products you would like to have?

Exercise. What barriers do you face in participating in physical activity? What other resources would be helpful?

Greenways and Pocket Parks Do you know about all of the assets that make up the “green necklace” in Mapleton-Fall Creek?

We hope you'll be willing to share your views with us this spring. For more information, contact:

Leigh Riley Evans
Mapleton-Fall Creek CDC
317-923-5514
Leigh@mfcfdc.org

Susan Hyatt
IUPUI, Anthropology
317-278-4548
suhyatt@iupui.edu